Notice of a benefaction

24 September 2025

The Vice-Chancellor gives notice that she has accepted with gratitude donations amounting to approximately £150k in total to date, which have been contributed by donors in response to an appeal launched by the Faculty of Law in 2023. Those donors include Mrs Lovedy Cornish, whose contribution of £50k initiated the appeal in memory of her late husband. The donations have been given to establish a Bill Cornish Memorial Fund ‘to offer financial support to students to research intellectual property law at the University of Cambridge, ideally by way of full and partial studentships’.

The Council, on the recommendation of the General Board and the Faculty Board of Law, is proposing regulations to govern the new fund (Grace 5, p. 15).

Following the approval of changes to the student membership of the General Board,¹ the Vice-Chancellor gives notice that, in the elections held from Monday, 24 February to Thursday, 27 February 2025, the following persons were elected as the student members of the Council and the General Board in class (d):

¹ Grace 5 of 30 July 2025 was approved on 8 August 2025.

Environmental sustainability

24 September 2025

In July 2024, the Council confirmed its aim for the University to have an agreed approach to environmental sustainability which is sector-leading.¹ There would be two stages to realising this ambition. Stage 1 would involve the assessment of the work done to date across the University, with recommendations for improvement. Stage 2 would require the recruitment of an individual to provide operational leadership, with specific responsibilities for the implementation of the recommendations made in the Stage 1 assessment and for the development of an operational environmental sustainability strategy and plan for the University. The Council is now reporting on progress made over the last year towards these goals.

In June 2025, the Council received and endorsed a report from external consultants Eunomia concluding the Stage 1 assessment. The report notes significant progress in embedding environmental sustainability within the University's operations. Nevertheless, there are areas where the report suggests that further action is warranted, to align the University's approach with best practice. The report makes both overarching recommendations and suggestions broken down by environmental theme (biodiversity, carbon, transport, waster and water). These include, for some themes, doing more to define and communicate policy, and developing action plans towards achieving the University's sustainability goals. Areas in which the report suggests the University could play to its strengths include working with specialists to remove the barriers associated with the allocation of funding for sustainability works.

At the same meeting, the Council agreed to recruit an individual with expertise in delivering stretching environmental sustainability objectives in complex organisations for a fixed term of up to two years in the first instance. The person appointed will report to the Vice-Chancellor and work closely with the Pro-Vice-Chancellor for Education and Environmental Sustainability, their counterpart providing academic leadership in this area. Funding for the appointment will come from the RMC Priorities Fund. The Council also expanded on the objectives of the individual, to include reviewing the governance around operational environmental sustainability to ensure it is fit for purpose, and evaluating the resource currently deployed, making recommendations on the University's anticipated needs in the near future. The individual appointed will also be asked to assess and prioritise the Eunomia report's recommendations, including an assessment of the costs of their implementation.

The Council will provide a further update in its annual report.

Change to process for seeking Regent House approval of building projects

24 September 2025

The Council gives notice of a change to the two-stage process normally used to seek approval from the Regent House for building projects. The changes take effect from 1 October 2025.

Under Statute F II 3, the approval of the Regent House by Grace is required for the erection of a new University building or for the demolition or substantial alteration of an existing University building. Some projects are sufficiently straightforward that Regent House approval by Grace is only sought once, and sometimes without prior publication of a Report. However, because details of a building project will usually be made public as part of the planning process, a two-stage process exists to seek in-principle approval from the Regent House prior to seeking planning permission, and then final approval before works begin. This involves the publication of a Report, followed by a Discussion and then the submission of a Grace at the first and second stage.

Previously, the Estates Division did not go out to tender for a building project until after obtaining Regent House approval at the second stage. Under current procedures, discussions with contractors start much earlier, with the advantage that cost estimates are firmer. However, that means there are additional costs incurred if works do not start in accordance with a timetable agreed with contractors when finalising the tender.

As a result of these changes to the timing of the tender process, the Council has agreed to make changes to the process for obtaining Regent House approval for building projects falling within the scope of Statute F II 3. The default will still be a two-stage process involving publication of a Report and a Grace seeking in-principle approval before planning permission is requested. At the second stage, however, the Council expects to publish only a Notice and Grace if there are no material changes to the project. If the Council decides to publish a second-stage Report, it may not be possible for the relevant committees to have approved the full business case for the works before publication of the Report. In such cases, the Report's recommendations will seek approval for the works subject to approval of the full business case.

The Council will remind Regent House members about the change to the process when publishing Reports concerning building projects during 2025–26.

With immediate effect

The General Board has removed a provision from General Board Regulations which suggests that there is liability for University Composition Fees for candidates for the Ph.D., M.Sc. or M.Litt. Degree for exempted terms. This provision appears to contradict Regulation 3(a) of the Ordinance for University Composition Fees (Statutes and Ordinances, p. 154), which states that students undertaking research degrees, including the Ph.D., M.Sc. and M.Litt., pay fees ‘for each term up to and including the term in which they are permitted to submit a thesis’.

The last sentence of Regulation 1(a) of the General Board Regulations for the above degrees (Statutes and Ordinances, p. 488) has been amended to read as follows:

There is no University Composition Fee payable for terms exempted under this regulation.

Co-opted members in class (f) shall serve until 31 December of the year in which they are co-opted or of the following year as the Board shall determine at the time of their co-optation.
3. The provisions for the election of members of Faculty Boards in class (g) and for the period for which such members shall serve, which are contained in the regulations for the constitution of the Faculty Boards and for the Classes of Faculty Board Membership, Elections, and Periods of Office, and in the rules made under those regulations, shall apply, mutatis mutandis, to the election and period of membership of members of the Board in class (g).

REPORTS

Report of the General Board on the Herchel Smith Professorship of Biochemistry

The GENERAL BOARD begs leave to report to the University as follows:

1. This Report proposes that Professor Eric Miska, currently Herchel Smith Professor of Molecular Genetics, be appointed to the currently vacant Herchel Smith Professorship of Biochemistry, following his appointment as Head of the Department of Biochemistry. These arrangements have the support of Professor Miska and the Head of the School of the Biological Sciences.

2. Elections to Professorships are made by a Board of Electors in accordance with Part B of Special Ordinance C (vii) unless they fall within one of exceptions listed in Section 1 of that Special Ordinance (Statutes and Ordinances, p. 82). The General Board is proposing that an exception be made in this case to enable Professor Miska, in effect, to exchange one Professorship for another. In order to make an exception to a provision in Special Ordinance, a Report must be published, enabling members of the University and the Colleges to comment on the proposal before the submission of a Grace seeking its approval.

3. The General Board recommends that Professor Eric Miska, JN, be appointed to the Herchel Smith Professorship of Biochemistry for a single tenure, the appointment to take effect from the date of Professor Miska's resignation from the Herchel Smith Professorship of Molecular Genetics.
